

TANJA RINKER

Tanja Rinker Professor of German as a Second and Foreign Language at the Catholic University Eichstätt-Ingolstadt, DE. Her work focuses on bilingual and multilingual language development including investigations of phonological and morphosyntactic processing at the neurophysiological level and language assessment and intervention. She has published widely in the field and she has been involved in numerous projects on multilingualism or the promotion of the German language funded by local and national as well as by of EU-grants. In 2018, she became part of the EU-consortium “MultiMind” which aims at training PhD students in the area of multilingualism. Currently, she is also coordinating an ERASMUS+-project on fostering multilingualism and multilingual pedagogies in the classroom.