

ECSPM – GEO Academic Forum on Scholarly Translation

4 June 2026

9:30 - 17:30

Attend the event in person:

Université de Strasbourg
Campus Esplanade, Bâtiment Le Pangloss - Amphithéâtre

Participate online:

<https://bbb.unistra.fr/rooms/bs9-uo3-ruo-zt1/join>

Keynote speakers

10:00-11:00 Joe LoBianco, Honorary Professor at the University of Melbourne, Australia
“Translation: Obscured Site of Language Policy Implementation”

12:00-13:15 Matthew Reynolds, Professor at the University of Oxford, England
“TRANSLALIA: A Possible Future for Translation with GenAI”

Invited speakers

11:00-11:45 Péter Szabó, Conference interpreter at European Parliament

“The language policy arrangements and the practice of language hierarchies in EU institutions”

14:30-15:30 Effie Fragkou, Assoc. Professor at the Ionian University, Greece, professional translator
“Power relationships between languages in translation”

Participants in a Roundtable Discussion

“The challenges of translating academic / scientific discourse”

Coordinated by Irini Tsamadou-Jacobberger, Professor of Greek linguistics and sociolinguistics at the University of Strasbourg

15:30-17:00 Frédéric Abécassis, Assoc. Professor of Contemporary History- ENS Lyon, and from the University of Strasbourg (UNISTRA): Marie Bizais-Lillig, Assoc. Professor at the Department of Chinese Studies, Ragip Ege, Professor Emeritus at the Faculty of Economics and Management, Agnès Lenepveu-Hotz, Assoc. Professor at the Department of Persian Studies, Farah Ramzy, Assoc. Professor at the Department of Arabic Studies, Dilek Sarmis, Assoc. Professor at the Department of Turkish Studies

The Forum programme is here: <https://ecspm.org>

GEO Groupe d'études

orientales, slaves et néo-helléniques | UR 1340

Université de Strasbourg